Marc Schulman • Short Bio

(70 words)

Marc Schulman is a historian, educator, and software developer who has been creating history-based educational tools since 1989. He is the founder of HistoryCentral, one of the web's longest-running history education platforms, and the creator of more than 20 multimedia history titles spanning CD-ROMs, websites, and mobile apps. History Run is his first video game and the culmination of more than three decades devoted to making history engaging, accurate, and accessible.